Term Daly City "Deathtrap" In Event Of SF Air Attack; Score Civil Defense Apathy

Daly City's apathy was shattered today. There is no civilian defense locally.

No one will coordinate the job, according to City Administrator Dan Andersen.

The question was brought up this week when San Francisco CD officials called Daly City a "bottle-neck" . . . of death.

Recently State Civilian Defense announced a "take-to-the-hills" doctrine in the event an alert is sounded. If there is time.

"No one told us about it," Andersen declared, speaking for the city government. He disclosed that in the past four years no citizen has been willing to take the job of local civil defense coordinator.

Plans, Estimates

Meanwhile San Francisco has gone ahead with plans and estimates. They announce that Daly City and South San Francisco are escape-routes. The consensus of official thought is that Daly City will be more of a death trap, traffic-wise.

S. F. police CD liaison inspector William Osterlach stated that if S. F. received the alert signal tonight, chaos would result at the county line. Daly City Police Chief R. A. Petrocchi predicts chaos long before traffic hits the county line. He compared the public reaction as to that of the shout of "fire" in a theater, multiplied by two million.

During World War I, there was a civilian defense program locally. More than 500 citizens took on the responsibilities of air raid wardens.

Daly City, along with other regional cities, has since abandoned its CD program.

Key Routes Here

According to the civil defense dispersal plan, key routes out of San Francisco and San Mateo counties will be Bayshore, Skyline and coast highway 1. At a CD conference in San Francisco this week, it was pointed out that there is a need for immediate planning by the state highway patrol, sheriff's and police of Daly City, S. F. and S. F.

County CD coordinator Harry Koch "hopes" to have a meeting of all police, fire, sheriff's, CHP and county service employees officials next week.

Petrocchi painted a panoramic view of death, accidents and traffic snarls, locally, in event of mass-exodus from San Francisco.

WOODY GREEN, the Westlake barber, may soon be in a financial condition that could be termed "shaky."

Woody promised players on Cub Pack 248 baseball team that he would buy each one a milk shake for every game the team won.

So far it's: Two games, two wins, 24 milkshakes.

Shaky, indeed.

NATALIE LIPMAN, the Brisbane-Bayshore "Little Atom Bomb" school superintendent charged recently with various discrepancies involving dummy corporations bidding on supplies, was recently awarded Bayshore PTA's life membership award, top accolade bestowed each year on outstanding citizens.

Some PTA insiders say it was strictly a "grudge" job by the DA's office, because they were miffed after not being called in on the Midway Village land hubbub. Outside legal counsel was retained by the district.

Friends say Miss Lipman will be fully exonerated.

Push Bill For Subsidy At Capitol

City Administrator Dan Andersen was assured assistance this week in both the State Assembly and Senate on the proposed bill to allow sixth class cities to subsidize public carriers.

Appearing in Sacramento Tuesday, Andersen went over a rough draft of the law with the deputy legislative counsel.

Andersen said the bill will go to the senate under sponsorship of Harry Parkman, and will be carried into the Assembly by Richard Dolwig.

If labeled as "emergency" legislation, the bill could be put into effect immediately. Otherwise a period of 90 days would have to elapse before the subsidy ruling would become law.

The bill would make it possible for Daly City to subsidize losses of San Francisco municipal railway buses operating here.

Council Split On Transit

Daly City council split up in three camps Monday night on the question of whether to continue with San Francisco municipal railway transportation or engage private firms.

Councilmen Michael De Bernardi and Del Wilson spoke in behalf of jitney service, Mayor Joseph Verducci held out for continuation of muni transportation while Edward Dennis and Sanford Vickers withheld comment pending further study.

The council considered a letter from Westlake Improvement association lauding the "Verducci Plan," which calls for a cross-town route, down-town express service from Westlake and subsidy of muni losses.

City Administrator Dan Andersen appeared in Sacramento Tuesday to lobby for emergency legislation which would allow sixth class cities to subsidize losses by public transportation firms.

Formal vote of the council on the type of transit service to be sought will be held following a report and recommendation from the transportation committee.

Approves Street Maintenance Worker

Monday night the city council approved the appointment of 30-year-old Edward J. Byrne as a full-time street maintenance man.

Byrne, 39 San Pedro avenue, has been a resident here since 1928. A veteran of World War II, he attended Our Lady of Perpetual Help and Jefferson Union High schools.

Formerly he has been a cab driver, truck driver, and part-time maintenance man. The civil service salary starts at $295 with a maximum of $341.

LEAD TOO WEIGHTY FOR FENCE VAULTERS

Two "strong men" failed in their attempts to steal 250 pounds of plumber's lead from a plumbing construction yard last Friday night. Norman Peters, 6818 Mission, saw two men jump the fence from the construction yard into his property and race north toward Westlake avenue.

Daly City police found the hefty lead piled in the yard as to make it easily accessible for lifting over the fence. Apparently the transporting of the loot proved too weighty a problem for the not-so-strong burglars.

Sanitation District To Pay $100 Month Of Stites' Salary

Although new city manager Howard Stites' salary is $13,000 a year, Daly City will pay only $11,800 of this total.

North San Mateo County Sanitation district board of directors agreed tentatively Monday to pay $100 a month of Stites' salary for his services as consulting engineer on district matters.

In other business Monday, the sanitation district board:

1. Learned from broker Mel Battye that it would cost $600 a year to insure the new sewage plant in Westlake and all sewage lines.

2. Received list of securities from Henry Doelger Builder, Inc.

3. Received a letter from planning commission, saying they would cooperate with the district whenever possible.

4. Heard report from Inspector James Poket, who said clogged line at 735 and 739 Thornhill drive had been cleared.

5. Refused to allow installation of sewer line along side of Valley street, as requested by Edwin Smith, specifying that the line should be in the center of the street.

DC BURGLAR DRAWS 3-YEAR PROBATION

Joseph A. Eagen, 24, of 121 Los Olivos street, was one of two men placed on three years' probation Monday by Superior Judge Louis Demattei. Eagen and his companion admitted burglarizing a Belmont construction office on February 18.

The former employees smashed a window to gain entry, according to the county sheriff's report. Belmont officers apprehended the Daly City man and his companion with the loot on them.

Cyclists, Driver Injured In Accidents

A Redwood City man was hurtled 20 feet through the air Sunday night when his motorcycle hit a divider line on El Camino Real near Old Mission road. Perry Welch was treated at Junipero Serra hospital for multiple cuts and bruises of his eye, face, head and knee.

Also in weekend accidents were another cyclist and a motorist. Cyclist Edward Barber, 537 MacArthur drive, Colma, suffered cuts after apparently hitting a fence. Audrey Goodman of San Francisco suffered back injuries when his car overturned following a blowout near the Silver Saddle.

HOLD LAGOMARSINO LAND DECISION OVER

An air of expectancy and tension dissolved Monday night when the city council didn't light the fuse to the Lagomarsino-Hillside bombshell. The members by-passed the question of re-subdivision of two blocks in Abbey homestead for further study. Mayor Joseph Verducci referred the controversy to the March 28 agenda.

Homeowners of the Hillside association failed to stop the planning commission's approval of the move last week. They are contesting Rieco Lagomarsino mainly on the questions of drainage and patterns. A hot debate is expected for Monday's council session if the issue is considered by the city council.

In amending an ordinance on water rates, the council sanctioned the increase levy of 50 per cent for out of towners. They authorized payments to Oscar C. Holmes—North Brunswick street extension, $1,575.54; John A. Blume, Brunswick engineering, final $2,902.54; John Q. Adams, reservoir No. 3 roof, $6,560.62 for a street flusher. The street flusher, with a capacity of 1500 gallons, will be operated by one full-time and one relief man. The Roberts property at 96 Mission Circle was condemned as a public nuisance.

The damages were awarded for soil removed from Mrs. Kitchen's property. In the suit, she had asked for $35,000.

The plaintiff complained that in June, 1953, the Doelger company removed several tons of earth in the backyard of her home, thereby damaging the premises.

Doelger firm, represented by Frank Blum and Thomas Gallen, held that the company had oral permission to move the earth for grading purposes. Doelger entered agreement with three adjoining property owners, whereby in return for allowing removal of earth, Doelger put in back yards for the property owners.

Jury returned a 9-3 verdict for the $2437 judgment, with three of the panel holding that Mrs. Kitchen was not entitled to any damages.

John Anderton was attorney for the plaintiff.

Bad Check Artist Admits Working Here

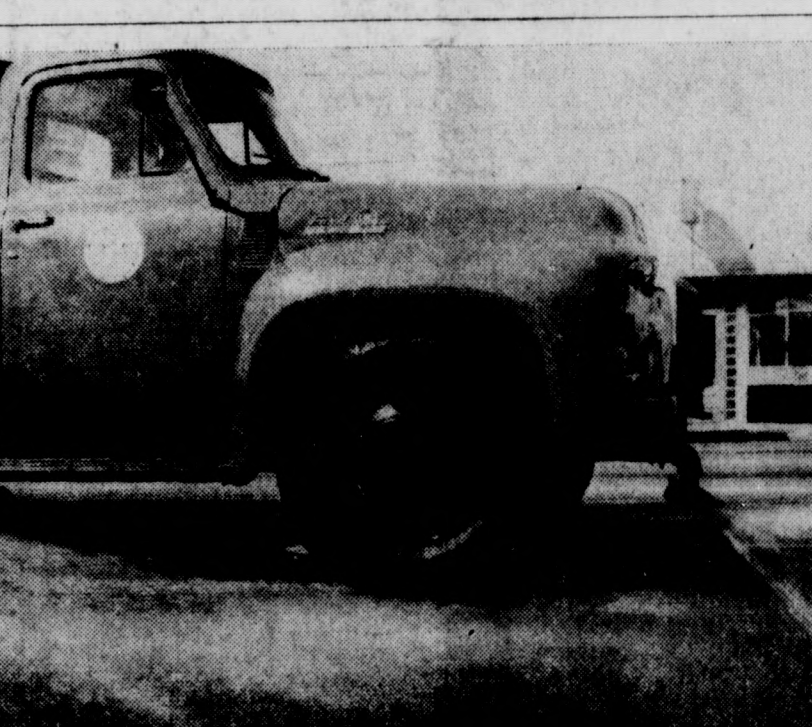

A very cooperative check bouncer who told Oakland police he "couldn't pinpoint the cities" where he had cashed bad checks, dropped one at a store at 6309 Mission street recently.

The owner had seen Clarence Hill's name in a local metropolitan paper. Hill was wanted by both Berkeley and Oakland police for questioning about his check-habit. Locally, his check for $25.75 was returned by a bank. Hill estimated that he has written checks for $700 in the Bay Area.

Binoculars Missing

Hayden McMills, D.D.S., 7392 Mission, reported missing binoculars to Daly City police Monday afternoon. Dr. McMills stated that the binoculars, valued at $150, might have been taken in the past three weeks.

Elementary

Request for sweeping revisions in job classifications resulting in higher salaries are expected to be submitted next month by Jefferson Elementary school division of California Teachers association.

But despite increased personnel and general maintenance needs, plus possibility of higher salaries, the local elementary district will have to hold its tax rate of $2.063.

The operative rate is currently at $1.50, maximum permitted by voters of the district. Bond interest and redemption is 29.5 cents and that, too, will remain practically stabilized because the district is bonded to its legal capacity of five per cent of assessed valuation. Re-payment of state loan amounts to 26.8 cents on the tax rate. This figure will vary at the most only a few cents either way.

The district is operating on a budget of $1,628,800 this fiscal year, which ends July 1.

With average daily attendance expected to rise several more hundred in fall of this year the budget will have to take a normal progression upward, but the district will have to count on increased assessed valuation to finance their needs.

Meanwhile, Jefferson teachers will submit a survey to the board of trustees next Wednesday showing comparative salaries for other school districts in San Mateo county. According to sources on the teachers association, Jefferson district instructors are among the lowest paid in the county, because of unequal academic classification.

SPEEDSTERS RACE FOR BIKE TROPHY

Youngsters from Broadmoor and Sterling Park are taking last minute practice sessions preparing for the second annual bike race on Sunday. Kids under 16 years of age and registered with police are eligible for the race which is being sponsored by the Broadmoor Ladies Auxiliary of VFW and Broadmoor police.

Classification will be according to bike size. A tricycle race will be held for the children up to four years of age. Racers are warned not to decorate their bikes, as that will cut down on speed.

Contestants are reminded that the starting time is 1:30 p.m. and to be there on time. Last year William Brown of Sterling Park saw his name engraved on the Lombardi trophy. Starting line is on Washington between Sullivan and Sweetwood.

Alleged Childbeater Arrested By D.C. Police

Francis Patrick Bailey, 144 Santa Cruz, was arrested Tuesday on a warrant, signed by his wife, Marie. The teamster is charged with the assault and battery of his 13-year-old stepdaughter on February 15.

According to police reports, Marie Bailey called police last month following the alleged incident. At that time Bailey told officers that he was punishing the girl for staying out late. The youngster had returned home from play at 8 p.m.

The report states that supposedly Bailey screamed at her, hit her in the face with his fists and knocked her against the wall.

Local Residents Named For Grand Jury Drawing

The names of William Degliantoni, 32 Shakespeare, and Mrs. Florence Stockton, 49 Crocker, will be among the 19 in the drawing for the grand jury today (Friday). According to County Clerk Robert Duffy, the 12-panel jury will be selected today from 19 of 30 proposed names.

JEFF HIGH

Jefferson High school district superintendent Stanford Hannah said today that despite an estimated attendance increase next fall of about 300, the district would be able to get by without much of an increase over this year's budget of $1,097,569.

This means that the $1.172 tax rate will not face any upward revision when the new fiscal year starts July 1.

Hannah anticipated that the district would hire eight additional teachers to handle the 1955 fall bumper crop of 600 freshmen, 150 more than 1954's record 450.

In order to handle the outsized enrollment, Hannah revealed an extra period will have to be added to the schedule. He said a morning class from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. will have the effect of adding three more classrooms to the school.

Hannah said he had received no salary increase request from the teachers as yet.

Elaborating on his statement that the budget would not take any appreciable jump in the 1955-56 fiscal year, Hannah pointed out that school plant maintenance costs will be about the same until the Westmoor institution is completed in fall of 1956.

Hannah said at that time the district's budget needs would probably increase considerably, because of additional costs of operating and staffing the new building.

LITTLE GIRL LOST, BONNIE WITH POLICE

A quiet, dark-eyed girl sat in the police station Wednesday for nearly an hour. The three-year-old squirmed in her chair, playing with a paper clip chain as policemen and citizens walked in and out. Phones jangled, the teletype clicked. Unperturbed, she picked at her blue coveralls and striped shirt. Her little red shoes reaching halfway to the floor slowly waved back and forth in the air.

At approximately 1:15 p.m. Officer John Walsh called "Bonnie." An officer walked in, took her by the hand and left. A minute later she settled in the patrol car and was on her way home to 44 Vendome.

Bonnie Buerke had taken a little tour of Daly City from Vendome, along Mission to Vista Grande where she was found at 12:30 p.m. by Inspector Hank Sundermann. Bonnie didn't say a word when asked her name.

Shortly after 1 p.m. a worried relative called Walsh. Seems she thought that Bonnie was with an aunt, shopping on Mission. The aunt thought Bonnie was home. After a search of the neighborhood, the police were telephoned. After two hours, Bonnie's tour was ended.

Summer School Sked At Jeff High Announced

A ten-course summer school program was announced Monday night by Jefferson High School board of trustees.

Courses, under direction of Glenn E. South, will start June 20 and conclude August 12.

Student enrollment will be held during the week April 25-29. Courses and their instructors include: Arts and crafts, Mrs. Louise Brent; personal typing and general mathematics, George W. Hinkle;

Daly City

Daly City will hit a $1,000,000 budget for the first time in the 1955-56 fiscal year starting July 1, local officials predicted today.

Added services, new equipment, personnel and some salary increases will swell the current $920,645 budget to well over the million figure, according to City Administrator Dan Andersen.

Whether the council will be able to hold the $1.43 tax rate is difficult to say.

"When the budget requests come in they may be staggering," said Mayor Joseph Verducci. "It may be impossible to hold the line on taxes without cutting services."

When City Employees association appears before the civil service board of review tonight (Friday) they are expected to ask for "substantial" salary increases in keeping with pay boost requests throughout northern San Mateo county.

It is estimated that total number of city employees will jump from 83 to 100 during the fiscal year, with hiring of new police, fire and street maintenance personnel. This increase, alone, would boost budget needs by nearly $60,000, or enough to top the $1,000,000 figure.

Maintenance of the present tax rate depends on whether increased assessed valuation can offset increased municipal needs, according to the mayor. At present, Daly City is assessed at $22,000,000. City Clerk B. C. Ross is currently estimating property values for the coming fiscal period.

Deadline for preliminary budget requests from department heads has been set for April 15 by the council. Under new council policy, budgets will be of the "performance" type rather than "financial." In other words, department heads will specify what projects will be completed with specific allocations.

First Scout Training Course Held

The evening was given over to a study of methods and planning for conducting successful boy scout hikes, under the direction of Edgar Newlon, Scoutmaster of Troop 50; Al Belotz, Scoutmaster of Westlake Troop 248; Art Crocker, Scoutmaster of Daly City's Troop 249, and other local Scout officials.

All of the training activities are planned as demonstrations of successful methods and experience in operating a boy scout troop.

ARGONAUTS, DC CENTER FIVE PACE FARM CAGE

An 11-point outburst in the third period enabled Marchbanks Argonauts to maintain their undefeated record in Teen-Age Farm league play at the community center last week.

Andy Ruelas & Co. toppled Lincoln Lakers, 32-27, after trailing throughout the first half. Carl Mecchi and John Farley paced the surprising Lakers to a 15-14 half-time advantage.

Ruelas kept his club in striking distance with 10 of their 14-point total in the initial half.

George Rocchi pushed the Marchbanks out in front early in the third period with a drive-in and two 20-footers and they maintained the advantage right to the end.

Former Jeff High 20s star Jim Phillips clinched the contest for the Argonauts with a pair of field goals with less than two minutes remaining.

Second game of last week's double header turned into a rout, with Community Center a 55-29 victor over inexperienced Bayshore.

Ron Pastan hit 16 points for the Centermen, high for the evening. Teammate Ray Parshall was close behind with 15.

The CC gang now has a 2-1 record, while Bayshore is winless.

A 23-23 fourth quarter deadlock was broken wide open in the last three minutes as Sharp Park hustled to a 35-27 win over Brisbane in other Teen-age league action last week.

Employing a fast break, Brisbane bombed the mesh for 16 points in the third period to overtake Sharp Park.

Sharp Park's Al Dye dimmed Brisbane hope in the final period with a quick trio of two-pointers, to give his club a comfortable six-point margin, which they managed to hold.

The win enabled Sharp Park to keep pace with the Argonauts in the undefeated bracket.

No Easy Money From "Black Flame" Friend

A baby blue sedan with a black flame decorating its lower front half pulled up alongside a Daly City boy last Saturday. The 14-year-old youth was walking east on North Parkview street when a friend drove up and asked him if he would like to make some money.

The youngster was told to get a pair of sunglasses out of a parked car. He would then receive $2. The "black flame" gunned away, leaving the boy to make some "easy money." The student was caught going through cars on Parkview and Gambetta by a Daly City officer.

At first he played it "cool," giving police a false name and address. When they found out his true identity, he revealed the story. After snatching the glasses, he was to meet his friend at a local theatre. He was told to sit on the right side of the show, and sit through the first run. He would then be contacted and given his $1. The juvenile was released to the custody of his parents.

Order X-Rays For All Jefferson Hi Personnel

Yearly chest x-rays are now a must for all Jefferson High school district employees.

This was the policy adopted Monday night by the high school board of trustees. It will affect both certificated and non-certificated personnel.

Trustees announced that on July 1 a bookkeeping machine will be used at the school to expedite district bookkeeping and make it possible to break down accounts further, thus giving a better view of expenditures.

NO POLICY ON TRANSPORTATION

The city council has been put squarely on the spot in the transportation quandary.

Private transportation firms rightly demand to know where the council stands.

Does the city want to retain municipal service, or are its lawmakers honestly interested in a private company entering the picture?

The council, withholding any definite commitment, points out that it is protecting the city by consulting outside firms. In the event muni does yank their service, the city will have standing by an outside company which has already made known its proposal.

We can't take issue with the council on this maneuver. They're looking for insurance.

One private transportation firm representative pointed out last week the fact that each time muni threatens to pull out, somebody comes up with a trial plan, and the San Francisco vehicles keep on running here for another few months.

"Don't you think it's obvious that they intend to pull out sooner or later?" asked this person.

In face of this type of thought, the council is in need of a policy on the transportation issue. But it's one thing to say, "We're for continuation of muni service"—and it's a horse of a different hue to say, "Muni is going to continue operations here."

While we feel that the municipal railway is in a more solvent position to serve Daly City, we would also like to know what kind of a guarantee Daly City has that it will receive another "six-months trial" every half-year.

If, as competitive firms claim, the muni is just "playing politics" with Daly City, then it might be only a matter of time until the service is eliminated here.

Contrariwise, some claim that increased passenger traffic on the No. 76, and reduced costs on the No. 56, will make it possible for both lines to continue profitable operations here.

A state senate bill now in the rough draft stage would make subsidy of SF operations by Daly City legal.

While on the one hand, Daly City's administrator is lobbying for legislation enabling subsidization, on the other hand only one councilman in five is proposing that subsidy is the answer.

We feel there is no policy whatsoever on the transportation issue now, and that an emphatic stand should be forthcoming.

TV Tidbits

By Gloria Lorenzo

LOCALLY YOURS... Little Mary Jean Marchetti, 62 W. Moltke, is a TV celebrity this week. Mary Jean appeared on the "Budda" show, Channel 7, Sunday. As her bid for the amateur talent winner, she sang "Irish Lullaby." She was chosen two weeks ago by audition.

First prize is $1000 plus a week's engagement in Las Vegas. According to the telephone voting, the Daly City Jefferson annex student was way out in front. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gino Marchetti is sponsored by the Edna Hyers Music studios. The Televisioner wishes the local singing student luck.

MOVIE OF THE WEEK... Tonight (Friday) Channel 5 will present Maxwell Anderson's great social play "Winterset" at 11:30 p.m. Burgess Meredith plays a boy seeking to wipe out his father's disgrace who ends by ruining his own life. This is the play in which Anderson delves into social problems involving justice, law, honesty and death. This is a MUST.

FRIDAY 7 p.m. Channel 4 Fights Joe Lopes will tangle with Carmelo Costa in a 10-rounder from Madison Square Garden via Cavalcade of Sports tonight.
7:30 p.m. Channel 5 News Commentator Edward R. Morrow takes his cameras a'visiting with Conrad Hilton of the multimillions hotels and Red Buttons.

NEW PROGRAMS

Three new weekly programs have and will begin over Channel 9 this month. Yesterday (Thursday) initiated a 12-week story about Colonial North America, "Before There Was A USA." The program will be aired at 4 to 4:30 p.m. and 8:30 to 9:15 every Thursday until June 2.

The University of San Francisco co-sponsors its first education channel program with this series. John Francis Bannon, S.J., history department director of St. Louis university is featured. The final 15 minutes will be a live commentary by the faculty of USF.

On Monday, March 21, a 52-week live Health show debuts at 8 p.m. This 30-minute viewing will cover everything from everyday colds to lung cancer, polio and heart disorders. New drugs and treatments will be discussed by prominent local doctors.

Charles Laughton will bring new readings from his literary collection of anecdotes, prose and fables, beginning Monday, March 21, at 8:30 p.m. For 15 minutes each Monday through July 18, this artist will present his solo readings by film.

CHANNEL CHATting... says Claudette Colbert has been contracted to star in the TV adaption of Phyllis Bottome's novel, "Private Worlds." This drama will be aired over Channel 5 on April 7. Bill Lundigan will commercial as usual for Chrysler over Climax when Miss Colbert changes costume.

Speaking of Climax, CBS is yanking its producer Bretnagne Windust for assignment on a new vehicle "The Townspeople." Max "spectacular" Liebman will break out the ice again for a return engagement by Sonia Henie. Engagements? The skating sensation's flashing skates may stop professionally if flashing-teeth Librarian wants another income-tax deduction.

Angry letters poured in from TV fans when sponsors passed the hemlock to "Father Knows Best." No doubt, the letters were from the family's and relatives of the cast. The Televisioner nominates Norby, Professional Father, December Bride, Red Skelton and Dear Phoebe for the TV junkpile. In most of these programs, the low-caliber writing pulls the acting down to the seventh pit. In some cases, the actor doesn't have TV ability.

LONG DAY, NEW PROGRAM ALLOWS PUPILS TO DEVELOP INTERESTS

By Gloria Lorenzo

There is as much difference in educational methods and facilities today and ten years ago as there is between a four-stage rocket and Lindy's "Spirit of '76." Proof of this is the Colma elementary school.

First impression—a modern and progressively designed piece of architecture. Second impression—a faculty, under the leadership of H. E. Alfson, using long-range thinking and planning to build well-rounded citizens.

Besides the fundamentals of the 3 R's and state requirements, Colma elementary has added an activity program. Under this, the students spend a longer school day.

Without objections, Monday through Thursday, between 2:58 and 3:40 p.m., seventh and eighth graders take a class of their own choosing.

Normally, they would not have this opportunity until high school. Even then, it might become merely a time-passing subject.

In January, Principal Alfson started this program, which not only enables the student to investigate a field of interest, but also become an integrated part of his cultural family and social life.

Prior to this, a list of classes was issued. The student marked his two top choices. Homeroom teachers then counseled the students individually to guide them into activities and clubs that would be beneficial as well as satisfy interests.

Some of the activities are offered once a week; in these cases students are enrolled in two sessions.

The primary difference between these special activities and regular electives of the high school phase are its ramifications. An example of this are the classes in boy's cooking, social dancing, Spanish club and public speaking.

The cooking class is a housewife's dream in utility and equipment. Here each Tuesday and Thursday, boys learn-by-doing basic preparation of foods. The boy is given a chance to try his hand in the kitchen. Something he could rarely do at home. Not only is his interest taken care of, but also he is receiving practical knowledge and training.

Social Dancing
Everyone remembers the launchery of his or her career in society. The knot of boys on one side, the girls on the other, with a wall of music and shyness between.

This is the time when social graces and know-how become important. At Colma, social dancing eases the initial pains and eliminates strains. The students want to learn, they want to enjoy themselves. The faculty provides the guidance and the "ice-breakers."

Members of the Spanish club receive the fundamentals of culture, both American and foreign, painlessly. By becoming acquainted with another country, people and customs, the students learn to appreciate their own heritage while enriching background.

Remember that wave of terror, the butterflies that hit you the first time you spoke before an audience. Your children won't have that if they attend Colma's public speaking class. By learning pantomimes and informal speeches, boys and girls escape the initial nervousness of the public speaker. Everyone sooner or later addresses a group. Many times the success of your talk depends upon the presentation. Colma students don't have to worry about speaker's jitters.

This activity program of H. E. Alfson's comes under the heading of book knowledge with take-home follow through. School authorities are increasingly aware that mere teaching of the 3R's is not sufficient. To cope with the business and professional worlds, students must receive an integrated, well-rounded education.

Guidance on the part of the faculty, interest from the student add

My Mad World

By Leonore Brewer

Edith Piaf and her Continental Review are at the Geary, and will be there through March 20.

The first half of her show is devoted to a series of vaudeville acts which in the main aren't much different than vaudeville has ever been. Les Marcellis are a balancing act. The Riveras add a different twist to the traditional Apache dance. The Arnauts fool around with a violin and then decked out in feathers chirp and twitter like birds, sort of a poor man's version of Papageno and Papagena in "The Magic Flute."

Then there is the Italian comedian, Harry Mimmo. His humor is based on the well-worn thesis that if something is funny the first time you say it or do it, it is ten times funnier the tenth time. Of course there is always Jack Benny who has parlayed a violin, an ancient automobile and an indignant, "Now you cut that out!" into a lifetime career, to prove that there is a vast audience for this sort of thing, but it just doesn't go over with the writer. Each time Mr. Mimmo centered his tie or murmured "with the big respect and with the diplomatic way," his audience howled louder, but we would have liked him a great deal better if he hadn't run it into the ground.

Diverting Caricatures

His caricatures of old time movies and the dance styles of Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly were diverting. One is never so conscious of the peculiarities of any individual as when they are satirized. Unfortunately Mr. Mimmo was not content to stop there, but had to do a takeoff on Hitler.

It is not the aim of this column to enter the realm of international politics wherein lies so much past bitterness, but we can't help pointing out that the world is in the precarious position it is because there was once a little man with a mustache and with a doctrine that had wide acceptance. He and his armies, whose methods of saluting and marching were particularly susceptible to caricature, were for a time a source of innocent merriment. For a short time. That time is long since past.

However, these are only the short subjects and the main feature is why one goes to the theater in the first place. After intermission came Edith Piaf. The essence of Piaf's approach to a song is simplicity, a quality that isn't found too often. There are no elaborate sets. She makes no attempt to emphasize the more exotic qualities of French fashion. Gestures are kept to a minimum and there is very little movement. In the end all you have is a pair of big eyes, hands that seem to be seething a little kindness from a harsh world and a hunting voice. And it's all you need.

Raise Legion Enlistment

Among the songs she chose to sing that night were "La Fanion de up to a socially, culturally acceptable citizen. Aided by the Colma school program, students are developing initiative and independent thinking.

A universal food favorite of men is the seemingly omnipresent chicken. Fried, roasted or, it seems, cooked almost any old way, men succumb to chicken.

Unusual chicken recipes aren't just hatched, however; they are, I have found, the studied projects of a gourmet. And Good Old New Orleans has more than its share of gourmets preparing chicken in unusual ways.

The French Quarter with its so many noted restaurants also has some other distinct eating places serving equally extraordinary foods, but without the tab so high and so common to the better known places.

Not too long ago it was my good fortune to find one of these remarkable restaurants with an extravagant cuisine at the right prices.

The atmosphere there was right for feasting: soft candle light, soft music and hard liquor, and—

Chicken French Quarter

4 chicken breasts
4 thin slices of boiled ham
4 tbsp. butter or margarine
4 eggs
bread crumbs
salad oil, or peanut oil
salt and pepper

Butter the chicken breasts and wrap a piece of ham around each one. Beat the eggs and dip the chicken breasts and ham into them and then roll in the bread crumbs. Brown the chicken in the salad oil, season, then top with butter or margarine, cover the pan and bake the chicken in a 350 degree oven for about 25 minutes. Baste frequently.

Chicken Legs Gulf Coast

4 chicken legs
2 tsp. prepared mustard
3 tsp. melted butter or margarine
2 shredded wheat biscuits, grated
salt and pepper

Spread the mustard liberally on each leg, then roll the legs in the grated shredded wheat to which you have added the melted butter. Season, then broil 'til done. This recipe can be embellished considerably by the addition of deviled ham. Spread the ham on each chicken leg before adding the mustard, then continue as above.

Safety News

Have you ever chuckled at the fellow who cheats at solitaire?

If you have, you'll probably be interested in the views expressed by Inspector H. Sundermann today as he discussed the know and obey traffic laws which the Daly City Police Department is conducting in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

Inspector Sundermann says many of us duplicate the chiseling solitaire player's tactics when we drive in traffic, sneaking through a stop light, driving a few miles over the speed limit or otherwise disobeying traffic laws.

"Traffic laws are made for our protection and we're obviously cheating ourselves when we disobey them," he said. "And what's more, our irresponsible conduct also exposes everyone else on the road to danger."

Those of us who excuse our recklessness by saying we only disregard traffic laws when it's safe to do so came in for a special word of advice.

"We're just kidding ourselves when we come up with that alibi," he said. "It's never safe to disobey traffic laws."

"Here's an example. You may be driving along a residential street and, because there is no traffic at the moment, you may think it isn't necessary to stay within the posted limit of 25 M.P.H. Suddenly a little girl bounds out in front of your car. Her life depends on how fast you can stop."

la Legion" which must have raised the enlistment into the Foreign Legion by several hundred at least; "Bravo pour le Clown," a nerve-shattering song about a mad clown who still hears the bravos of the crowd; and "Monsieur St. Pierre," about a girl who hopes that St. Peter will overlook past frailties and permit her to enter Paradise. The only thing we would change is the background of one or two of her songs. It adds nothing to the song and is very distracting.

Jacques Peals, husband of Edith Piaf, performed his master-of-ceremonies duties with a light touch, sang a pleasing song or two and even told one or two innocent stories. What were they? Sorry, they aren't quite that innocent.

RECORDS IN THE PAST

FIVE YEARS AGO

THE RECORD expressed itself editorially on the Formosa issue. "President Truman's decision not to intervene in Formosa could not be expected to meet approval." History may prove him right or wrong. Recently Ike had the same question facing him. History will decide.

ANDREA KING presented DAN DURYEA with a gold-plated heel as the "Hollywood Heel of the Year." Of course, this was for film roles only.

Speaking of movies, "the nation's No. 1 funnyman" appeared in "Always Leave Them Laughing." The star, none other than UNCLE MILTIE.

Want something to nibble on? The Relish Bakery advertised two-layer banana cakes at 90c each. Made with fresh bananas iced in butter cream and covered with sliced walnuts. After five years they may not be so fresh.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

The Greyhound Bus company advertised one-way fares of $4.65 to Reno and $12.75 to Phoenix.

THE RECORD carried a picture of C. S. Howard with his two famous thoroughbreds, Seabiscuit and Kuyak II. Both horses were entered in the sixth annual $50,000 Santa Anita derby that year.

Leading grouches of the year were named this month: G. B.

Shaw was polled as the "world's grouchiest," Harold Ickes was the "nation's grouchiest," and Ned Sparks was the runner-up in the national contest.

In March, bargain hunters found they could buy the new DeSoto 100 horsepower model for only $1095. Driving to the Daly City Theater they saw DEANNA DURBIN and HELEN PARRISH in "First Love." The second film was "One Hour to Live" with CHARLES BICKFORD and JOHN LITEL.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Consumers could purchase an all-electric radio for only $138.50. Advertisement listed the following features, which haven't changed much in two dozen years: walnut and birdseye maple cabinet, genuine electro-dynamic speaker, provision for two 245 power tubes—push pull; rich, full, clear tone of revolutionary fidelity; split-hair selectivity.

"Mysterious Russia" was the title of an illustrated sermon given to inform citizens about the Communies. The modern-day prototype could be "I Led Three Lives" also, informing citizens about the Communies.

On the lighter side, DOUG FAIRBANKS JR. and JOAN CRAWFORD were on the screen in the hit of the year, "Modern Modems." Weekend movie enthusiasts saw CLARA BOW in "Saturday Night Kid."

SM County News Briefs

EMBEZZLER DRAWS 1-10 SENTENCE

Superior Judge Leonard Avilla sentenced William F. Crosby, 70-year-old ex-county coroner to one-to-ten years in San Quentin. Crosby was convicted of 18 counts of embezzlement of public funds on February 18. The judge denied probation and new trial pleas by Crosby's attorney. He granted a stay of execution for one week, until today (Friday).

CEMETERY

Belmont may be giving Colma competition soon if the new cemetery is approved. The proposed construction on a 300-acre site in western Belmont is being studied by the city planning commission. A verdict is due on Monday.

HOT ROD

The San Carlos city council has approved construction of a clubhouse for the Sultan Hot Rod club. The club is comprised mainly of high school members.

ABANDON CAMPUS

County students will no longer be attending sessions at Coyote Point. The College of San Mateo trustees abandoned the site for a proposed unified campus and permanent home for the college. For the past three years the college board has been fighting for a unified site at the point.

HOW FAR BEHIND?

Trustees of the Brisbane and Bayshore elementary school districts affirmed they would "stand behind" Natalie Lipman, superintendent, if District Attorney Keith Sorenson filed a criminal complaint against her. The DA is scheduled to charge her as acting as an agent for her brother in the sale of school supplies to the two districts.

The charge would be a violation of the state education code which prohibits school officials and teachers from acting as agents.

HORSEBEANS A'COMIN

Back in 1918, horsebeans were a major crop in this county. Approximately 50,000 bags were exported yearly. In Portuguese settlements...

You didn't know it, but there are many youngsters living in the neighborhood and the people who set the speed limit were providing for just such an emergency like this. Inspector Sundermann urged Daly City drivers not to cheat themselves by disobeying the law.

ments the beans were almost a staple. Farmers used them for cover crops and stockfeed. Drugists used the big beans in medicine.

The bean crops were struck by the weevils. They dwindled year by year until in 1949, total production was a mere 849 bags. The University of California scientists and local growers united to wipe out the weevil. In 1952 the university men told the farmers to use 5 per cent DDT when the bean pods first began forming.

Bad weather ruined the 1952-53 crop. Last season was the first in which control measures could be observed and verified. Production hit 5000 bags last year. "When this county reaches the old 50,000 mark, residents can say, 'Hey, paisano, the fave' are back!"

OBITUARY

On a lonely stretch of beach near San Gregorio, two bodies will be interred by the county. Funeral services are being arranged by J. W. Healy of Princeton. The bodies were found washed up on the beach Monday.

Method of burial was under consideration; cremation was too expensive. Several cords of wood and gallons of fuel oil would be needed. A trench was decided upon.

A bulldozer will dig a trench, 10 feet deep, 20 feet wide and 24 feet long, above the high tide line. The bulldozer will then bury the two killer whales under the sand. Each whale is approximately 24 feet long and 3000 pounds in weight.

Healy, according to the county department, has a contract with the county to dispose of dead sea lions. Evidently this makes him an authority on burying the large, bulky sizes.

LOCAL SERVICEMEN DOCK AT SAN DIEGO

Pfc. Ronald W. Joy, 138 Irvington street, Pfc. Stanford D. Carman, 122 Westdale avenue, and Cpl. Eugene H. Boudreau, 57 Fairway drive, were scheduled to arrive in San Diego last week with the initial group of 1st Marines ordered from Korea to the US.

Along scheduled for a San Diego landing was William C. Riddles, USN, 238 Peoria street. Another naval fireman, Burney E. Allen, was aboard the destroyer Harry E. Hubbard which took part in the Tachen evacuation. His parents live at 1147 Brunswick street.

Village Notes

By Gwin Mitchell

As long as there are so many Oscars and Emmys being heard about these days, there ought to be a special award for Husbands Who Give Their Wives Surprise Birthday Parties! The present candidate on top of the list is Dan Kerr, who gave wife Alice a most complete birthday surprise party at the Olympic club, with guests, cake, presents and all—and Alice was really and thoroughly surprised!

Of course, the husbands and fathers have their share of birthdays too—Neil Cargill had a very nice one of his own, surrounded by family and best wishes.

There are some kindergartners around who have missed their Mrs. Holman while she has been home with the flu. We hope she's back with her brood by now and feeling quite all right again.

Arthur Frederick Widfeldt Jr.—that's the young man who has become the new brother of Patricia and Ann Widfeldt over on Louvaine, and there are some pretty proud parents around the house! 7 lbs. 14 oz. is a good deal to be proud of, too!

We had heard so many little snips of information here and there about the Indian guides program that the YMCA is putting on that we called John McKinley and asked him about it. It's a dad and son organization for boys from 6 up—usually to about 9, depending on their interests. Because of the limited staff at the Golden Gate Y in Stonestown, which runs the program, there are not too many tribes in existence right now, but there are hopes of more. There are two tribes in the Broadmoor-Garden Village area, with about 8 or 9 father-son combinations in each. In addition to the regular meetings and activities for the masculine members of a family, there are some special events to which daughters and mothers are invited. Indian names are used for the tribes and the members' titles, and there are many projects carried out to help establish the companionship between a boy and his father which the guides program has as its aim. Ed Raymond and Virgil Harvey are helping organize this area, and Gordon Somers is chief of the Comanche tribe. Hear tell that Larry Freiberg and Grant Holman and their sons are Indians, too!

Mike Orlich is back home on Garden Lane after taking his basketball team to Oremville for the competition. Mrs. Orlich went up to see him for a day or so, and couldn't tell us enough about how beautiful the scenery was these pre-spring days.

The Wesley Smith family took off for Pine Crest and Dodd's Ridge not too long ago for a weekend's fun with skiing for the older members and some good fun for the younger ones in the company of snowmen and flying snowballs!

We are glad to hear that Mrs. James Armonthorpe is home after a sojourn at Mary's Help hospital, and that she is ever so much better. We'd like to wish her well, too, with a hope that each day finds her farther along towards being herself again.

The Lichtenberg family over on Louvaine has been having its ups and downs these days. Daughter Beth hasn't been too well and will have to stay quietly at home for a while, so that means all sorts of mother-plans from Mary to keep her sojourn interesting! We were glad to know that Beth doesn't feel so badly that she couldn't enjoy the family party given in honor of sister Rayme's seventh birthday recently.

Happy anniversary wishes were due Marcella and Ray Harvey last week. They celebrated number 9 as dinner guests of Verna and Ray Duste—roast beef, too!

Al and Carol Courtney are helping Al's brother, Melvin, rejoice in the fact that he is a civilian once again, after having seen an Army's-eye view of Korea. He's that glad to be Stateside again!

Sutro's was invaded not too long ago—by 29 members of the Intermediate Presbyterian Sunday school class! The troops, armed with ice skates, were conveyed and deployed by Generals Ray Logan, John LePine, Paul Elliott, Jack Cowden, Forest Smotherman and George Hillman. From all reports, it was a very successful campaign!

Janet and Pete Rizzo decided to see how things looked from the other side of the Bay, so they gathered up young John and Jan and spent a weekend in Vallejo, visiting friends.

Hats off to Martin Orloff, a member of the Stewart Avenues, whose work in that area during the recent Red Cross drive resulted in the highest total collected in any previous drive collections of any group! And here's hoping that the other members of the Orloff family, Meredith and son Richard, are all through entertaining that Virus, the same one which is making such a pest of itself all around our town.

There's something a little extra special about the first baby—and there's a new one up on Thornhill. Miss Patricia Lynn, 7 lbs. 3 oz., is now living at the Chester Perry home and has established her own order of things, after the usual manner of small queens!

King Arthur had his Round Table—and the Cub Scout mothers have theirs! Attending the latest of these discussions, in South San Francisco, were Pearl South, Helen Mahoney, Mary Contreras, Virginia Neff, Jean Heikel and Madeline Feist. These Cub Scout mothers are busy people and they give a lot of their time—but they'll tell you it's well worth it.

There were some puzzled passers-by in the Ellis street area the other day. They couldn't make sense out of a large sign propped in front of one of the homes—something about "No Dough!" But the Ed Hyndmans knew—they'd just gotten back from a weekend in Reno, along with Ruth and Donald Childers, and this was their neighbors' way of welcoming them home! For all the fun afterwards, the trip was wonderful—the first weekend the Hyndmans had had for themselves for seven years. They went by train, too, with no driving time cutting into the holiday minutes.

If you are a girl between 7 and 17, and you like sports, call Yvonne McBean at PL 5-2921. She is anxious to get some team sports started among the girls in the area, now that the boys are all taken care of with their sports groups, so that there will be something interesting doing this summer when some hours are certain to hang a little heavily on everybody's hands. There you are, girls—fun and companionship no farther away than your phone, so give Yvonne a ring.

High point of Bobby Ellis' 10th birthday party was his cake, shaped like a rocket, and altogether a work of art. Jack Duxham, Doug Shanoian, Dick Stiller, Bobby Cowan, Billy Coulter and Michael Simmons thought so, too. As Bobby's dinner guests, they were in on all the fun, including kites as favors.

Not all the big ones got away on the fishing trip that Gordon Feist and young Gordon took in the company of some other fathers and sons lately. They went out to the Farallones after salmon, and everyone thoroughly enjoyed himself. Nobody got seasick, either!

Cleo Cheskey and Katie Flanagan have been at it again, hosting—another party! This time it was a come-as-you-are party, with Harriet Buhman, Toni Henry, Jean Wittala, Gail Foster, Doris Johnson, Helen McElroy, Betty Kass and Betty Christman getting the unexpected phone calls to come to Kate's house for breakfast.

Hard to tell that Otto Theel left MacArthur drive for San Diego—just for a visit's length of time!—and to balance the compass, the Herb Stettler family, all of them, went to Santa Rosa for a weekend—to celebrate Herb and Hilda's 9th anniversary.

Vi and Vince Murphy are rejoicing—seems that Vince's permanent appointment as Daly City Postmaster finally came through, after a year of being acting postmaster and watching for that important notice!

The chain has been broken—one of the Hess families is leaving Broadmoor. Arthur and Irene and family are wending their way peninsula-wards, we're told, and there'll be many friends who will miss them a great deal, to say nothing of the organizations for which they have worked.

To the three young O'Briens up on Thornhill, namely Steven, Jean and Tim: we are awfully sorry you have been feeling uncomfortable and unhappy with the flu, and hope you are all well again by this time, now that spring is here with its outdoors-play-is-nicest weather.

man, J. Galindo, C. Munday, J. Van Otten, J. Walsh; (second row) J. Perada, C. Terry, L. Dove, P. La Bruzzo, R. Phillips, A. Linhares, G. Brooks, E. Beecher, G. Schaeffer, J. Sunderland, H. Sundermann, J.

Giusti; (front row) Commissioner Whitney, R. Beecher, D. Johnston, D. Hansen, A. Benassini, D. Wood, M. Benedetti, W. Bolger, Chief Petrocelli, and Commissioner Baher.

News From Here & There

HI FOLKS:

Well, here we are back again with more news from here and there. Your many phone calls have made me quite happy, here's hoping I hear from more of you. So let's get acquainted. Remember the phone number is PL 5-5419.

NEW BUSINESS! Don't forget to file for your VETERAN'S TAX EXEMPTION. A wife can file for her husband after the first year, so let's take advantage of it.

Belated birthday wishes to CATHY URBANOS of Abbott avenue who celebrated her sixth birthday March 3. Sorry I forgot you Cathy in last week's column, hope I'm forgiven.

Another young miss to celebrate her birthday is JAN JARDIN of 318 Chester street. Relatives, friends and neighbors helped her celebrate this gala occasion, as this was Jan's first birthday.

Glad to hear that MRS. MARY MAHOOD is out of the hospital and staying with her son, Arthur, of 169 W. Moltke. A speedy recovery is wished from your friends.

Sorry to hear that BILL BENADETTI of 18 Paul street is still on the sick list at Franklin hospital. All your many friends hope to see you home soon.

Little "PENNY" QUINTEROS of 250 Abbott avenue is quite unhappy these days, as she and her tonsils parted company March 10. Keep your chin up, Penny, you won't miss them at all.

We hear that the EDWARD BANTA'S of Bismark street who moved last month are all settled on their chicken ranch in Santa Rosa. They send their best to all their friends and neighbors.

The ALEX YAROMA of 152 Werner avenue are about to leave our fair city for New Hampshire for a three month visit. They plan on driving back and taking in all the sights. Enjoy your trip, but hurry back to us.

Another Tupperware party was held at the home of MRS. JOSEPH PICARDO of 185 W. Moltke street. Those present were Mesdames: Grace Molina, Angie Mahood, Frances Bauer, Sylvia Luc-chesi, Lena Scalabrino, Stella Molina, Lily Franzioia, Emily Drago, Sue Pademonte, Rose Schurgin, Hazel Dart, Rose Guastavino. Mrs. Pat McKay was the demonstrator.

Mrs. Frances Riggat of 92 W. Cavour has left our city for an indefinite visit to Astoria, Oregon, where she is meeting her husband, Lt. Harry Riggat, stationed aboard the U.S.S. Ryar AKL No. 9. Lt. Riggat has been overseas for about a year.

Wedding bells for LOUISE BANFIELD of 240 Second avenue and the boy across the street, THOMAS HALEY, on Sunday, March 6, at Holy Angels church. Reception was held at the Broadmoor community center, approximately 150 guests attended. Tom is in the Coast Guard. Lots of happiness to both of you.

Taking advantage of the nice weather are the OWEN MACNEALYS of Abbott avenue, having outdoor barbecues in their back yard. Sounds like lots of fun.

First Class Private ROBERT LEE HYER of the U. S. Marines and his buddy, Ben Walsh, recently home for a two-day visit with the Senior Hyers, of 851 87th street. Richard is stationed at the Marine base in Twenty Nine Palms. When he returned to duty he drove back in a new 1955 Plymouth, a gift from his Dad.

Our congratulations to TROOP 20 who won the second prize for their GIRL SCOUT display. The girls in the troop are: Carole Andrus, Kathleen Eschler, Peggy Bass, Lucile Whitney, Patricia Knox, Judy Moffitt, Marilyn Dodson, Linda Thorn, Cathy Cowell, Vivian Nessler, Sharon Gentile, and Lani Mjoevohich. Leader Mrs. Corrine Andrus, co-leader Mrs. Mildred Eschler. Keep up the good work, we're all very proud of you and your troop.

Seen having lunch at Puccini's in between PTA meetings were Mesdames G. Marchetti, F. Sullivan, W. Lescher, A. Castle, G. Bertucci and J. Doyle. Roger Sullivan, age 3, was the male escort, don't know who enjoyed themselves the most, Roger or the women.

Glad to hear that the GIRL SCOUTS in this area have sold

Jean Brugge took her turn as hostess for the 37th street Sewing Circle, which meets every two weeks for lunch—and Bette Kass entertained Kay Logan, Gail Foster, Katie Flanagan, Harriett Buhman, Ruth McCall, Doris Johnson and Elma Dier the other evening, all of whom get together one evening a month, but as yet have not named their group!

Welcome to Major Woods and his wife and baby, who have newly arrived and settled down at a Maddux Drive family. Let's hope the service allows them to stay put a while and enjoy living here.

The Stanley parties are going strong still—Hilda Stettler asked Frances Pricolo to demonstrate Stanley products to Vi Murphy, Hazel Eagleton, Stella Magdon, Roberta Taylor, Claire Aides, Rosemary Lamentia, Rose Rothmuller, Lisa Moore and Marge Tolomei at Hilda's home a while back, and Frances obliged in her usual friendly manner.

"Peter Pan" has left its impact on our villages. The number of children who wish they could take off and zoom around the television aerial is sizeable, and Old MacDonald's farm had nothing on our young ones when it comes to crowing! It's a bit confusing, too—you could be sure once that a wild flight across the front lawn meant Superman and nothing else, but not now! Now it could mean Superman, Peter Pan or just plain being jet-propelled!

Argus Of Colma School

BELIEVE IT OR NOT—Believe it or not there's a student by name of Penny Silvers who almost every day brings a "Believe It Or Not" article to Mr. Edwards' class for current events session. The entire class now feels they have a thorough understanding of Ripley—believe it or not.

BRAVO, PAISANO—Last week Mr. and Mrs. Garrone, parents of Graciela Garrone of Colma school, went to the immigration office in San Francisco to take an examination to become citizens of the United States. The test was a great success.

JUMPING THE GUN—Pardon Argus, but the information got to us too late. The C.G.A. fashion show will not be a mother-daughter affair, but a for daughter only.

BEWARE—If you should, again, see students of Colma school sinking around with weird black objects of all sizes, you have more reason to beware than ever. Mr. Russell Jones' photography club is sponsoring a photo contest for Colma 7th and 8th grade students. The contest started on March 7 and will end on April 1.

SCHOOL NEWS—Argus has an example of the usual runaround that Argus reporters get when asking a teacher for news.

Interview:
Reporter: "Any school news?"
Teacher: "No, nothing but trouble."
Reporter: "Trouble? Human interest?"
Teacher: "No humans here."
—Just a joke!

NEWS: MOVING DAY AT COLMA—The new section of Colma school opened on March 7 and beginning March 14 the entire school went on a full-day session.

PLAY BALL!—Ronald Delfino, of Mr. Thomas Schoelten's room, can barely wait for the baseball season to start. Not many of his classmates know that Ronald is a first cousin to Reno Cheso, oft-time third baseman of the San Francisco Seals. Last year Ronald started by playing right field for the Daly City Raiders, a hard ball team. However, he showed an unhappy tendency to catch fly balls with his head until Captain Anthony Guillory, fearing for his life, had him transformed into a catcher. Reno Cheso loaned Ronald one of his gloves and gave him many valuable catching tips. Today Ronald is a far different player from the one who fell over his own feet while shagging flies. "Watch my smoke this year fellars," says he; all ninety-eight pounds of him.

MUSEUM HAS VISITORS—Mrs. Jane Bartell and Mrs. Carol Cherry's classes took a trip to the San Francisco Junior Museum. All agreed that a grand trip was had by all. Mrs. Cherry made a movie of the trip and will show this to other classes in the school.

ROBBINS RAMBLES—The students in Mr. Charles Solley's class took a Rorsbach inkblot test. Each pupil made an inkblot and wrote a story or created an atmosphere centered around the inkblot. A surprising experiment took place in an eighth grade class. They had two pans of grass, one ammonia-fed and the other water-fed. The one that was water-fed was living and doing fine—BOOM!—surprising ending of experiment was that the water-fed grass began to die, somebody fed something that somebody should not have fed.

REAL STUDENTS—Two reporters decided to quiz a few teachers on who are the honor students in their rooms. Mrs. Helen Muller stated that her honor student is a new girl in the class by name of Donna Benner, while Graciela Garrone claims this honor in Mrs. Dean Harkness' class. There are two sharing the glory in Mr. Ed Edwards' class—Carolyn Waller and Dennis Parsons. The interesting aspect was that their citizenship record was an A standing, also. These are but four of the many who stand in the same category at Colma—an honor, indeed!

MACKLIN MUTTERS—The student council at Colma school has been very busy lately, as usual. Now it is planning the seventh and eighth grade St. Patrick's Day dance. Busiest of all is Sharon Durbin, in charge of school dances. The dance will be the first to be held in the evening at Colma—good luck, Sharon. Speaking of the Student Council—could be you have noticed the flat top Andy Scallase, president, recently sported. If you haven't, it is probably that you haven't seen him at all lately or you WOULD have noticed it. Seems that one of our classmates, one Sharon Cook, has an illness which forces her to remain out of school for awhile. She would appreciate cards and letters, I am sure. Please address your greetings to: Miss Sharon Cook, 907 Foothill drive, Colma.

SWEETS TO THE SWEETS—Wednesday, March 9, there was a candy and cookie sale in the multi-purpose room of Colma sponsored by the Colma Girls' association. The sweets were sold during first lunch period at 11:15 and second lunch period at 12:15. Nancy Regnelli, chairman of the committee, did an outstanding job as shown by the multitude of "yummies" and the complete "sell-out" at a profit of $37 to this active organization.

STARS AT COLMA—Have you heard the faint music these last few weeks? The emoting of such recording stars as Joan Weber or Nat King Cole. Well, don't worry; we're not having visitors. It's just Mr. Odd's dramatics class presenting their pantomime show for various Colma groups. You should see some of our fellow students pantomime these celebrities on record. Although there is no similarity between star and performer in appearance, the observer can't decide which is which! A few of the performers have been Ann Hyndman, Beverly Donaghy, Carole Marshall, Dave Dunbar and John Sorensen.

GALLANT HEARTS

By Wallace S. Odd, Seventh Grade Instructor
Not so long into the distant past you walked with us
You shared the cause and fears we times bore
But now in distant thought you come to us
And give your aid as once you did before.

The memories of your courage then
Now fill our hearts to carry on your plan
And dreams are filled with days that might have been
And yet we feel your outstretched helping hand.

You left us there upon the blood stained field
Your courage filled our very hearts and souls
The courage you expressed, in duty, yields to give us strength
To soar beyond our goals.

We marked the spot on which you fought and fell
To symbolize your quest for right and peace
The endless hated hours of living hell
In vain attempt that war and strife might cease.

For here upon our hearts in blood is writ
Your wishes that we treasure still they reign
Your goal, our aim, though gaining bit by bit
Upon the world shall some day burst aflame.

A flaming light to guide the feet of men
To end this groping agony of war
A flame that's fueled by blood of stalwart men
Shall guide us on to freedom's radiant star.

So rest in peace, oh gallant hearts, so brave
And in thy momentary slumber know
Your wishes still shall reach us from the grave
Where surf and sand and flaming poppies blow.

All tickets for the fashion show and luncheon to be given by the Mothers' Club of OLPH on Sunday, March 27, have been sold, according to Mrs. John Strebel, ticket and reservation chairman for the affair.

The fashion show, an event looked forward to by parishioners each spring, promises to be a very delightful affair with fashions being presented by the Elsa Margo shops, the chairman said. Many door prizes will be given to the guests, with a special prize of a lady's wristwatch and an Elsa Margo gift order to be awarded to some lady.

FAST AND FURIOUS action in Saturday's "B" division playoff of Dally City Rec Basketball league found OLPH emerging on top, 31-22, over a game Holy Angels five. In this surprising bit of maneuvering a Holy Angels player (skins) appears to be attempting a half steal from his own team mate, while two OLPHers (shirts) close in. One Holy Angels eager became so excited in the second half that he shot a bucket for the OLPH team, in spite of frenzied protests by his coach and fellow players.

CHAMPIONS of the Dally City Rec Basketball league "B" division are these members of OLPH club. Entering the rec league for the first time, the church team compiled a 12-1 record throughout the season to win the

That's My Point

MORE MAMMAS THAN PAPPAS

When Mike Orlich, in conjunction with the Red Cross, opens his adult swimming program at Jefferson High school pool the register will probably show about 47 mammas, only two or three pappas. Nobody knows why the dams never show up for these five one-hour lessons, but that's the way it's been these past years.

Some reasons could be: Either Pop already knows how to splash about enough to keep himself above water, he doesn't have time, he's not interested, or maybe he's just plain embarrassed to admit that he's not really another Johnny Weissmuller but just a poor flounder who'd drown in any stand of water higher than his nose.

At any rate, the school-Red Cross program opens March 30, with sessions each Wednesday from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Tariff is $3, which is less than you'd spend just paying admission to any pool five times.

WHY DO THEY WAIT SO LONG?

Nearly all of the adult pupils who show up are non-swimmers, says Orlich. Why do they wait until so late in life (average age is about 29) to learn to swim?

Orlich says the answer to that one's easy. Most of the women are young mothers whose children are reaching the age where they like to play around in the water. In fact, because of the children's classes conducted by the high school, a good many of the Dally City tots are actually pretty proficient swimmers.

Once the kids develop the swim-craze, mamma is bound to get dragged along on outings to the beach or lakeside.

Conceding that they're going to get black-jacked into a few swimming trips, mothers feel they better learn how to get along in the water so they can keep up with the young-uns and also watch out for their safety.

Most of the pupils learn how to swim in the five lessons. (Only one failed to make the grade last year.)

There is an instructor for each six or seven beginners, so a good deal of time can be devoted to the adult's individual aquatic problems.

JUST A PRELUDE OF WHAT'S TO COME

The adult classes are just a minor prelude to what takes place in the summer, starting in mid-June, when first echelon of an army of nearly 2000 neophyte mermaids and mermen trek to the high school pool. Any child over 48 inches tall is eligible for the summer program which means that practically any shaver can enter.

During the 10 half-hour lesson children's program, about 90 per cent of the youngsters learn to get about in the water well enough to avoid drowning. A good many turn out to be regular water bugs.

Orlich's wish is that every child be exposed to such a program. He explains that fear is the chief reason for most water deaths. In swimming classes the first emphasis is placed on removing the children's fear of water.

Out of the Jefferson swim classes for tots have come some top flight swimmers. In fact, five of the summer class instructors got their swimming baptism at the Jeff classes.

The program costs $2 per child. How many lives have been saved by the simple expediency of a $2 lesson is hard to tell.

Wildcats In Easy Win To Wrap Up Broadmoor League

The nine-week Broadmoor Youth Association Basketball league concluded last Thursday night with the Wildcats living up to expectations, annexing their eighth win and the championship.

Wildcats' victims were the hapless Hawks, with the final tally a lop-sided 34-15 in favor of the champs.

Webb Parker and Dixie Howell poured through 10 apiece for the 'Cats to lead the rout, while the cucumber-cold Hawks were paced by Terry Christman's four markers.

The Wildcats wound up with eight wins, one loss.

In the other half of Thursday's action at Jefferson High gym the Demons upset the Bobcats, 27-25, as Don Harris exploded for 17 points on eight field goals and a charity toss to lead the winners. Wayne Howard's 10 was tops for the vanquished 'Cats. The Bobcats finished with a 4-5 league mark for second place. Demons win tied them with the Hawks for third place, each with 3-6 records.

Bobcats Wayne Moon could only hit for four points but still managed to claim the league scoring crown with an even 100 tallies. Parker was runner-up with 95.

St. Ignatius Halts Jeffs' Six-Game Win Streak, 2-0

A six-game win streak by Jefferson High school's varsity diamond crew was snapped Wednesday by St. Ignatius, the only team that has been able to find the Jeffs' number this season.

Despite a commendable performance by the Indian club, Coach Lou Martin's nine was set back, 2-0, in a tight contest at the SI field. Lowell Creighton allowed the Ignatians only four singles, but two of them back-to-back in the second inning accounted for both runs. Creighton struck out 10 batters, gave up a single walk.

Leave 9 Stranded
Jefferson had the margin of victory on the basepaths, but fortune and what Martin described as "poor umpiring" left nine Indians stranded on the bags.

In the sixth frame the Jeffs got three men on base, but all wilted there after a pop fly by Bob Bailey. Martin claims that earlier in the inning the umpire told him there were two outs when there was actually only one. This, Martin said, altered his strategy. Had he known there was only one down, he would have pulled a squeeze play and probably tallied, the mentor surmised.

Jeff outlived the opposition, nick-

10-strike-out performance for the Jeffs, allowing only four hits.

Vuillmainroy had a two-hit shut-out going up to the seventh inning, when three runs came in on an error by reserve outfielder Herb Frost.

Jefferson continued to show hitting power, picking up nine for the day. Gaggero led the pack with three singles in three attempts. Shortstop Ken Smith got a triple and single in four tries, and Vuillmainroy doubled in two trips.

A "Dark Horse"
Vuillmainroy, a strapping six-foot junior, may prove Martin's "dark horse" on the mound as a result of his showing Tuesday.

Friday against a good Balboa team Creighton and teammates eked out a 2-1 victory, as the reliable right-hander turned in the peninsula prep season's first no-hitter.

Up until the sixth Creighton had a perfect game. An error by Smith and a fielder's choice moved a Balboa man to second. He stole third on an error by Murphy and was driven in on a long fly ball.

Only three Balboans reached third base against the deadly Creighton. He notched nine strikeouts, walked one batter.

Creighton Helps Cause
Jefferson picked up one run each in the fifth and sixth. Creighton was directly responsible for one of the tallies.

In the fifth Creighton singled, was sacrificed to second by Guisti, moved to third on a grounder by Figone and was scored on a single by Ino Patron, first hit of the year by the promising freshman.

The Indians meet San Francisco State Jayvees today (Friday) at the home field. Tuesday the locals go after their second victory over Polytechnic, travel to Sir Francis Drake the following day and host SFS again on Friday.

Spikemen In Debut Today

SSF VICTIMS AS FROSH-SOPH GET FOURTH VICTORY

A home run in the last half of the eighth inning by Bill Strassburger with two men on, two outs, gave Jefferson High frosh-soph team a 4-1 win over South San Francisco here last Thursday.

It was the fourth straight victory against no defeats for Coach Byron Van Alstyne's charges.

Ed Leveroni handled mound duties for the Dally City club, giving up only four hits and a single walk and striking out seven batters.

Jeff picked up one run in the third on consecutive singles by Leroy Franzosa and Bob Berry, and two SSF errors, to stay in front until the seventh, when the Warriors tied it up.

The Dally City frosh-soph nine was scheduled to open league play yesterday (Thursday) against San Jose.

Excelsior In Field

Topped By Palo Alto
In a practice frosh Friday against Palo Alto, the Jefferson unlimiteds were outscored, 67-45, as distance ace Jim Rector was slowed down by the dregs of a week-long cold.

Rector finished second to Ron Larrieu in the mile, as the Palo Alto posted an excellent 4:34 clocking. Rector trailed by about 25 yards. The Jefferson speed-burner and Larrieu are probably the two top distance men in the league, or in Northern California for that matter.

The two tangled in some real sizzlers last year, and repeat performances are expected this year when Rector rounds into shape.

Lowell Klaisner was the Indians' only double winner, as he claimed the sprint events, turning in fast times of 10.2 in the 100-yard-dash, 22.3 in the 220.

Beginning this month, the school will be held on 1st and 3rd Saturdays only. Bicycle Court is expected to start in April, on 2nd and 4th Saturdays.
